👋 Home

Welcome! This site gives you access to various scripts that let you perform common festival-related tasks in an efficient, consistent and time-saving manner. It also acts as an alternative way of exploring and quality-checking the contents of the database.

Please note that, in spite of my best efforts to make this site and the scripts it lets you perform as robust and user-friendly as possible, this is my first attempt at a project of this scale and complexity. Bugs can and will occur, the visual presentation is rather basic, and I rely on your input to keep improving the user experience. Don't hesitate to let me know about any errors you might encounter, functions and improvements you would like to see or any other feedback you might have!

With that being said, the Database Analyzer script is not only intended to spot common mistakes in formatting and such, but will also help avoid database errors that can prevent the scripts from performing as expected. If you can think of a check that should be integrated, please let me know.

The database explorer pulls the most important information about films, guests and events from Notion and lets you view the database entries without any disctracting clutter. You will also find related links, scripts and other helpful information on the detail pages.

The log provides some feedback as scripts are executed, and is a good first place to check if something did not go as planned. Additionally, you will find some tips and best practices in the sidebar.

Last but not least, I intend to update this site with fixes, improvements and new features regularly. You can check the What's new? section to keep up with the latest developments, and get a sneak peek of what's to come in the sidebar.

I hope you find value in this newest addition to the FAF toolbox and enjoy exploring its features! :>

🏆 New Version released

The latest version of FAF-Scripts was released on Sunday, 16 October. Read up on what's new in the Changelog.

🤖 Scripts

Hi Jonas! These are the scripts that you can run from this site. Exported files are uploaded to Dropbox and can be found in the 00 fafscripts folder. Note that some of these scripts involve a lot of down-/upload processes, and can take a couple of minutes to finish.

🤖 Pass script (batch)

This is the batch version of the pass maker script. Use ctrl/shift to select multiple pass buckets (NB: trying to export digital passes will throw an error). You can also choose how files are named, and/or to only export passes that have been created/updated within a certain time frame. This should make it easy to find the file(s) you are looking for. If changes were made to the configuration, you might want to update the "Pass buckets" internal database and/or click the "Update pass templates" button under Config. If the script finishes but returns an error message for one or more passes, you can click that error message to view the pass(es) in question on Eventive, and can make sure that both the pass itself and the associated customer/guest have a name set before giving it another try.

Controls

Select pass buckets to export:

```
Digital Film Lover Pass
Digital Industry Pass
Festival Staff
Film Lover Day Pass [Friday]
Film Lover Day Pass [Saturday]
Film Lover Day Pass [Sunday]
Film Lover Day Pass [Thursday]
Film Lover Pass
Industry All Access Pass
Industry Day Pass [Friday]
```

Sort/beginning of filename: [name ▾]

Only export passes from the past x days (-1 for all): [-1 ▾]

Schedule preview

This simplified preview is a convenient way to check a guest's schedule without having to export it first. If you don't like what you're seeing, you should edit the respective guest and/or event(s) on notion before reloading this page. Once you're satisfied, you can generate a nicely formatted file using the script button in the sidebar.

🎭Nordic-Baltic Competition: Student Film

2022-10-20, 12:00 at Kino 4.

Text catalogue:

13 student projects have found their way to the FAF competition programme. Films from Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Estonia and Norway prove that the growth of talents is accelerating in northern Europe. The schools and universities that are represented mark a unique diversity of approaches and techniques in animation. From art to crafts, the films vary as the animation scene itself. Volda University College, The Animation Workshop, Sörängen Folkhögskola, Animationsakademien, and the Estonian Academy of Art are returning schools to FAF's student competition, HDK–Vadland–Academy of Art and Design, Westerdals Oslo School of Arts and Altoo University debut in this 2022 edition. Also, note that the pre-selection jury did a poor job with the gender balance in this programme there is only one film without a female directing credit.

The student films in the Nordic-Baltic competition programme are competing for the festival's awards for best student film, Grand Prix and the audience award.
